RAG: separate indexing from per-query generation

Conceptual retrieval-augmented inference | corpus preparation and serving have different lifecycles

Indexing writes document representations; a query retrieves passages that condition the generator alongside the query.