Human approval checkpoint before side effects

Conceptual pause-and-resume control | approval is a runtime input

The stored thread identifies the paused run. The action is not dispatched while this checkpoint is waiting.

Persist the proposal and paused state, obtain a human decision, then resume to execute or cancel.