One-stage dense detection: predictions at every pyramid level

Conceptual architecture | original schematic | symbolic dimensions

Illustrated levels are a subset. Each output retains its own spatial locations and anchors.

Shared classification and box subnets are applied separately to each feature level; focal loss addresses class imbalance.